

Diane Bedore Wins National Awards

August, 2009

Port Huron, MI – Diane Bedore, of Woman's Life Insurance Society in Port Huron, was recently awarded the Quality Service and Production Awards by the National Association of Fraternal Insurance Counsellors (NAFIC). The National Association of Fraternal Insurance Counsellors has over 4000 members in the United States and Canada. The Quality Service Award is given to those representatives who maintain at least 90% consistency of at least 25 life insurance policies totaling $1 million. The Production Award is given to those representatives who have earned a minimum level of commissions based on at least 25 life insurance policies written. “These awards go to field agents who have demonstrated excellence in serving their clients,” said Anna Maenner, NAFIC Executive Secretary.

Woman's Life Insurance Society is a not-for-profit fraternal benefit society founded more than 116 years ago to help women protect themselves and their families from the unexpected and the unplanned. Today, Woman's Life continues to support women by connecting and engaging them with other women through a unique local chapter network that provides social activities, individual support programs and monetary support for community service activities, as well as access to life insurance and annuity products.
