

Turn Compassion Into Action

You can make a difference in your community and impact lives through Impact Teams. If you're a policy-holding member, apply to lead a volunteer Impact Team in a service project or fundraising event—what you do is up to you. We'll provide the resources to get your project started. You gather friends, family and neighbors to do good together.

Three Simple Steps

Follow these three simple steps to help create your next Impact Team project.

Step 1: Find your passion

Make a list of needs in your community. What needs are going unmet? What causes or organizations are close to your heart that need your help? What are you passionate about improving in your community? Is there an individual(s) in your community that needs your help?
Now that you have brainstormed, select one to focus on. Are there organizations you can partner with to make an even bigger impact?

Step 2: Pick your project type

Now, let's develop your project. How would you describe your project to others?
How will you use the Impact Team funding to kick-start your project?
How many volunteers will you have and how will they be involved with the project?
Will you be working with a community organization (e.g., parish/church, non-profit, school, etc.) to make this project happen?

Step 3: Take action
